

Disability Certification for ABLE Account Eligibility

What is an ABLE account? An Achieving a Better Life Experience (ABLE) account allows eligible individuals with disabilities to save and invest without losing eligibility for federal benefits that have income and resource limits. Friends, family, 529 qualified tuition plans or trusts may directly deposit funds into an ABLE account without impacting benefit eligibility. ABLE account investment growth is tax-free. Withdrawals to pay for qualified disability expenses (QDEs) such as education, housing, transportation, healthcare, assistive technology are not considered income and do not impact means-tested benefits.

- A person who has received Supplemental Security Income (SSI) or Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) disability-based benefits from the Social Security Administration (SSA) since before age 46, does not need a disability certification form. The person's SSA benefit statement is proof of ABLE eligibility.
- A person who has not received SSI/SSDI since before age 46 must obtain a signed physician statement, such as this Disability Certification. An ABLE account owner will keep this form for their records should the ABLE plan or the Internal Revenue Services (IRS) request a copy. An ABLE plan may require annual disability certification.

Note: An individual does not need to receive SSI or SSDI to be eligible to open an ABLE account.

Physician Guidance: By signing this form, you are confirming that this person has one or more physical or mental impairments that cause marked and severe functional limitations which have lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of 12 months or longer or are expected to result in death, and the impairment began before age 46.

How SSA Disability Rules Apply: The impairment(s), individually or in combination, must meet, medically equal or functionally equal to a condition in the SSA listing of Impairments or Compassionate Allowance Conditions listing.

- Click 20 CFR § 416.926a for additional information on SSA rules for functional equivalence.
- The rules apply without regard to age.
